TURKEY HAS CLAIM
CRITICIZE ACTION
13 MONTHS NOW

By Arthur Brisbane
(Copyright 1929, By King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

IN the Aegean Sea Turkey and Italy claim fifteen islands. Turkey asks the World Court, which in reality is the judicial arm of the League of Nations, to settle the question.

What questions concerning us will be submitted to the World Court when we get in? And what chance will "Uncle Shylock" have in that Court, prejudiced and packed at least ten to one against him? Will the Court, first of all, reinterpret the Monroe Doctrine?

Those, including European friends, that criticize our sending of marines to Haiti, are reminded that that they are there in virtue of a treaty made in 1906, under which the United States agreed "should necessity arise to lend efficient aid for the preservation of Haitian independence, the maintenance of government for protection of life and individual liberty."

At present one hundred different Haitian patriots are candidates for the presidency, all at once. That alone calls for marines. Our brethren in Haiti run for president strenuously.

Managers of business on a small scale will be interested to learn that General Wood, president of Sears, Roebuck with 40,000 employees, adopts the calendar year of 13 months for business purposes in place of the old year.

The thirteen-month year, twenty-eight days in every month, one day over each year, every day of the week falling on the same day of the month year after year, facilitates and simplifies business, and makes it easier to make comparisons.

The thirteen-month arrangement ought to be adopted all over the world. But it is hard to change old customs.

A British judge suggests copying, for English prisons, an experiment made in Germany. Prisoners that work well, behave themselves, show "some desire to become good citizens," will have special privileges.

Their cells will remain lighted until 9:30 p. m. They will share in prison management, and have two weeks once a year to visit friends, and keep in touch with the world outside.

Rebellion in American prisons proves that mere discipline is not enough. Perhaps showing a real interest in criminals, realizing how narrow a line separates respectability from crime, would help.

"But for the grace of God, there lies John Huss," said the Bohemian martyr, looking at a drunkard in the gutter. And "but for the grace of God, there I sit," any one of us might say, seeing a convict in his cell.

Advertising means selling goods, which means making more goods necessary. And that means employing more labor.

Therefore, advertising is vitally important to industry, finance and business.

BUS INQUEST HAS STARTED

Authorities Seek Cause Of Fatal Crash On Ohio Highway

Eaton, O., Jan. 3.—With the tragedy of yesterday still fresh in their minds, Preble county authorities will hold an inquest late today to determine the responsibility of the bus accident near here, which claimed two lives and resulted in injuries to 13 persons.

Two separate investigations have been started. One is being conducted by county officials and the second is in the hands of Greyhound bus officials.

Both were awaiting improvement in the condition of W. R. Spratt, of Richmond, Indiana, the driver of the bus, who is in a grave condition in a Richmond, Indiana, hospital.

Immediately after the accident yesterday, Spratt pleaded for a gun to kill himself.

It is generally believed that a front tire on the bus blew out and that the bus careened into a culvert and down an embankment.

Explosion Fatal

Canton, O., Jan. 3.—Gas escaping from a defective valve was blamed today for an explosion which took the life of William Post, 34, of Gary, Ind. The blast occurred in Post's room in a boarding house here.

Third Ship Flies Near

Find Bodies

Santa Monica, Cal., Jan. 3.—Sorrow-stricken Hollywood today awaited the results of an ocean search for the bodies of seven of ten men who went hurtling to their deaths when two motion picture planes collided in mid-air and plunged into the sea in a mass of flames.

Something went wrong as the two cabin planes loaded with cameras and equipment swung into position yesterday toward sundown.

Flying 3,000 feet above the ocean and about three miles off shore, their wing tips interlocked and the two big planes staggered and swung together in a confused mass, then plunged into the sea in flames.

Onlookers saw three of the passengers hurled clear of the mass; their bodies were recovered. The other seven were carried beneath the surface by the tons of wreckage.

Today a crew of divers and a fleet of small boats were to comb the waters in an attempt to locate the wreckage and recover the victims' bodies.

The death list:
Kenneth Hawks, director and husband of Mary Astor.
Max Gold, assistant director.
Captain Ralph Cook, pilot.
Lieut. Hallock Rouse, army reserve flier.

Conrad Wells, cameraman.
Ben Frankel, assistant cameraman.

RUSSIA LENDS AID IN SEARCHING FOR FLIERS LOST IN ARCTIC WASTE

American Planes Ready
To Start Flight
To Nome

Fairbanks, Alaska, Jan. 3.—The two remaining cabin planes piloted by Canadian fliers who are to search for Lieutenant Carl Ben Eielson and Earl Borland, Arctic fliers, were to take off for Nome today.

Attempting a take off yesterday with Pat Reid and his plane, Gifford Stewart "cracked up" one of the relief ships.

If the weather permits, Reid's plane and another piloted by Matthew Niemiemi will take off today to join the search in the vicinity of Teller, Alaska.

Extremely low temperatures have hindered the search during the past few days.

Moscow, Jan. 3.—Determined to make every possible effort to find the missing American airmen, Carl Ben Eielson and Earl Borland, the Soviet Arctic commission today authorized another Soviet plane to take part in the search.

This plane, a tri-motor Ploker monoplane, is now at Khabarovsk. It will leave immediately for Okhotsk and fly northward from there to Northeastern Siberia where the missing aviators are believed to have come down about seven weeks ago.

The main Soviet rescue expedition, commanded by Boris Chukhovsky, is now enroute from Moscow to the Arctic region which will be scoured for the missing men.

Newcomerstown Man Seeks Prison Parole

Columbus, O., Jan. 3.—The fate of Harry Dillehay, former village clerk of Newcomerstown, who is seeking a parole from the Ohio state penitentiary here, rests in the hands of the state board of clemency today.

Reports state, however, that despite protests which were made by a Newcomerstown delegation, the former village clerk will be released on or about January 20.

He was sent to the penitentiary here after being convicted of embezzling funds of the village. He served two years.

Dillehay is one of the radio announcers at the penitentiary.

New Mullins Boats To Be Displayed Here Saturday

Innovations In Outboard Motor Craft Go To
New York Show

Salem people will be able to attend an advance showing of the 1930 line of Mullins boats when a public display will be held at the boat factory of the corporation Saturday from 12 noon until 6 p. m., according to an announcement made today by J. C. McKee, manager of the Mullins boat division.

The boats which will be on display will be sent to the motor boat show to occupy four floors of the Grand Central Palace in New York City, January 17 to 27.

Mullins boats this year are a distinct innovation in types for use of the outboard motor and are by far the outstanding products of the concern in 36 years of boat manufacturing.

The development of the outboard motor has made a strong demand on boat builders, inasmuch as the portable power plants now used on small boats can drive craft through the water at speeds about 40 miles an hour.

Jones Goes On 'Air In Plea For Support of Measure

Washington, Jan. 3.—The prohibition storm that is rocking Washington as it has not been rocked in the whole 10 years of Volsteadism showed no signs of abating today.

On the contrary, it appeared to be gathering force and intensity for a grand blow-off next week when congress reassembles to provide the proper setting. It promises to be acutely embarrassing to the administration. It is, in fact, already so.

The developments were these:

1—Senator Borah, the administration's severest critic, refused flatly to submit any of his "evidence" to Atty. Gen. Mitchell concerning the inefficiency of nearly a score of district attorneys which Borah contends is sufficient to merit their instant dismissal.

2—Mrs. Mabel Willebrandt, the flaming evangelist of prohibition during the campaign, is understood to have joined forces with Borah to the extent of furnishing him with much of the "evidence" which he has. She is reported to have taken it with her when she retired from the department of justice a few months ago.

3—The dries are badly split among themselves as to biggest leakage in the present enforcement set-up. Borah contending that it is industrial alcohol diversion, which he characterized as "a national disgrace," a contention Dr. J. M. Doran, the prohibition commissioner, hotly denied. Alcohol diversion, Doran contended, is now a negligible factor.

Jones On Radio

4—Senator Jones, author of the five-and-ten law, took to the air last night with a radio speech to the country, defending prohibition and appealing for public support at this critical time.

Fifty Are Wounded As Unemployed Battle at City Hall

Bucharest, Jan. 3.—Three persons were killed and 50 were wounded, some seriously, when a mob of 2,000 unemployed stormed the city hall at Temevar, Roumania, today, according to word reaching here.

Among the injured were 10 police men who attempted to disperse the crowd. The emergency was so great that police fired indiscriminately on the mob, but the riot was not ended until Federal troops had been mobilized and rushed to Temevar.

Canton Man Held On Driving Charge

Lee Gordon, Canton, is being held in city jail pending arraignment before Mayor John M. Davidson on a charge of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor.

Gordon was arrested by Patrolman Ralph Stoffer at 5:45 p. m. Thursday after he is alleged to have backed his automobile over a curb at the corner of North Lundy ave and Etna st, knocking over a mail box.

Ray Gordon, said to be the driver's brother, was also arrested and faces a charge of intoxication.

Telegraph Wires Broken by Shot

Rome, Jan. 3.—Telegraphic communication between the newly created Vatican City and the rest of the world was restored today after being cut off for several hours, all because of a duel between two men over a girl.

Vatican City is connected with the Central Italian telegraphic office by a thick cable suspended over St. Peter's square. The two men staged their duel directly beneath this cable and a stray bullet pierced it.

Both men emptied the entire contents of their pistols at each other, but neither was injured. The damage was repaired after several hours work.

TWO WOMEN ARE ATTACKED; KILLS ESCORT OF ONE

Assailant Tells Name and Is Thought To Have Taken Poison

Baltimore, Jan. 3.—Reuben Heyman, 22, was shot and killed last night and his girl companion, Mrs. Dorothy Burgess, 24, was criminally attacked by a man who charged them with a pistol as they sat in their parked automobile in deserted Druid Hill park.

Mrs. Burgess, estranged from her husband who, she said, is living in Washington, D. C. was in a serious condition at Union Memorial hospital today.

She said her assailant told her he was a world war veteran and pulled up the leg of his trousers to reveal to her a cork leg.

"My name is Lorenzo Price, I'm going to die soon anyway and I don't care about what I've done," Mrs. Burgess said he told her.

"Then he swallowed some poison tablets, got violently sick and ran into the darkness," she told police.

Police believe the murderer was the same who accosted Mrs. Margaret Wilhelm, 60, a widow, yesterday afternoon in Duncan woods in the northeast section. He attacked her, cut her throat, left her lying bleeding in the lonely woods.

The second crime was learned when Mrs. Burgess cried to a passing motorist.

"I've been attacked by a man. He killed Reuben Call for help, she gasped and fainted.

Police found Heyman's body lying in a ditch a few yards from his parked automobile. Two bullets had been fired into his chest, one piercing his lung and causing death, physicians said.

Mrs. Burgess remained conscious, less later and said Heyman had been her friend for quite some time. Her story continued:

"Last night we went riding and stopped to talk in the park. It was raining and no other machines were about.

"Then the man ran from the darkness and jumped on the running board. He had a pistol and commanded Heyman to drive to the Cottman estate several miles north of the park.

"There he told him to get out of the car. The man followed him a few steps and fired three shots and Heyman fell into the ditch. Then the man returned to the machine and attacked me."

Police found the third shot merely pierced Heyman's coat.

Police Holding Man and Woman

Believe Pair May Know

Blonde Bandit

Pittsburgh, Jan. 3.—A man and a girl who may know something about Irene Schroeder, blonde gunman, and her two companions, who disappeared following the slaying of Corporal Brady Paul near New Castle last Friday, were arrested here today and were taken to Greensburg barracks of the state police for further questioning.

State police have developed the theory that the gun woman and her companions have been in and out of Pittsburgh as late as last Tuesday. Suspicion was aroused when it was learned that a man who refused to identify himself and his woman companion, had tried to charter an airplane to take them to Cleveland or New York. Failure to identify themselves resulted in refusal of the plane.

The couple placed under arrest here today came from Akron, O. last Friday, police said. They have been rooming here in Paines street in a house under the surveillance of the police. The woman is said to have "slipped" under questioning by police and admitted that she knew Irene Schroeder whom police want for the slaying of the state highway patrolman.

The motor car in which the woman and her two companions, made their escape from New Castle after the slaying, was recovered late yesterday in a Wheeling, W. Va., private garage.

Report Business

The Salem China com-
Bloss company and Electric Furnace company all reported great increases in business in 1929 over 1928.
The Deming Pump company issued the statement that business during the entire year was satisfactory with the outlook for 1930 good.

The Mullins Manufacturing corporation suffered more than ordinary fourth quarter depression but expects a prosperous volume of business this year.

"While the entire automobile industry suffered more than the ordinary fourth quarter recession," C.
C. Gibson, president of the Mullins stated, "we anticipate a very satisfactory volume of business for the coming year. We have had no cancellation of orders but releases have been reduced and advanced into 1930."

"We have closed a number of additional contracts for new products and the diversification of our output will serve the stabilize our operations and insure steadier employment."

Production To Gain
"While we do not anticipate heavy production on the part of the automobile industry during the early months of the year," Mr. Gibson continued, "we are confident of a fair volume of business for January, increasing in February and by March we anticipate we will be operating at full capacity with a satisfactory production assured for the balance of the year."

The Mullins wash tub department, according to Mr. Gibson, is now on a day and night shift with heavy production insured in the department throughout the year. With the new enamelling plant in operation, the working force in that division of the plant has been materially added to.

"With the addition of new boat models, including a high speed ste-plane, it is our purpose to energetic-ly increase our output."

ing the iron foundry, which will in-

"With the enlargsidered the addition of heavy presses at equipment, we are looking for to the present year with complete confidence."

R. P. Benninger, vice-president of the Electric Furnace company issued the announcement that there are excellent prospects at that plant for a good average throughout the year.

"The 1929 business of our company," Mr. Benninger stated, "represented a large increase over 1928.
The outlook for 1930 is very good and we anticipate a good year."

The Electric Furnace employs about 200. Mr. Benninger anticipates a fair first quarter, with January possibly slightly under normal, but a gradual increase, during later months.

Lloyd Jones, manager of the Salem plant of the E. W. Bliss company, with headquarters in Brooklyn, N. Y., stated that the concern has considerable business booked ahead and that indications for 1930 are exceedingly bright.

"The Bliss company plant here is showing a steady improvement each year. At present there are approximately 250 employees on the payroll, a larger number than there has been for years."

"The volume of business is increasing yearly with the sales for 1929 considerably exceeding those of 1928. The indications for 1930 are very bright as there is considerable business booked ahead and new business is being quoted on running in-

They had acquired eight acres of ground on the outskirts of Paris upon which they hoped to be able to build. It was the news of this purchase which attracted the attention of the Rockefeller interests. As soon as the French government votes $600,000 to the project and the Paris municipal council agrees to the choice of the site, the money will be paid over. The equalization of the two amounts will prevent any criticism which might be forthcoming.

The site chosen for the new school is back of the Cathedral of Notre Dame on the banks of the Seine. On this tract it is planned to build a structure which will not only meet present day demands but those of the future as well. The school's present buildings are totally inadequate, having been designed to care for less than 1,000 students. The present enrollment is approximately 5,000.

The Rockefellers, father and son, have been very generous to humanity in being generous to France. The Rockefeller Foundation gave $6,420,000 to battle tuberculosis from which France is a heavy sufferer, and $200,000 for the Jardin des Plantes, the famous botanical garden of Paris. In addition to these gifts, large sums were advanced for the restoration of Rheims and the Cathedral of Rheims and two of the most famous show places of France, the palace at Versailles and the Chateau at Fontainebleau.

The world joins with France in being grateful for the preservation of these structures of historic interest. Gratitude is mingled with admiration for the wisdom of the men of wealth who know how to use their money to better the world as well as themselves.

Three gunmen were shot to death by Chicago detectives and policemen when they attempted to work a $10,000 racket on the secretary of a union up there. Justice doesn't always travel on leaden feet, even up in Chicago.

SENATE AND FREE SPEECH
William Hard is quoted to the effect that "the senate was violating the constitutional right of free speech." We hope that this useful member of the fourth estate has been misquoted. The constitution merely says that congress shall enact no law abridging the freedom of speech, which is quite another thing from guaranteeing to the citizen the right to say what is like when it likes; and it would not help the cause of free speech in the slightest to have Mr. Hard dragged

Guard Against Head Cold Infections

DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

An infection in any part of the body is bad and may cause a great deal of trouble. Infection of the sinuses, or antrum, may sometimes be of long standing, and as a result of the pus germs growing in this cavity, may lead to a slow poisoning.

The bones of the face are hollow, and as a result, there are several sinuses. One of them is the hollow under the cheek bone. This is known as the antrum.

There are also other cavities in the honey-combed bones of the face. These cavities all open into the nose, and they are spoken of as "nasal sinuses," or the "nasal accessory sinuses."

One of these sinuses, called the maxillary sinus, lies in the hollow bone corresponding to the lower end of the eyebrow, and the root of the nose. This is the frontal sinus.

The sphenoidal sinuses are those separated cavities which lie deep embedded in the bones behind the nose. Between some of the nasal sinuses and the brain cavity is a thin layer of bone, like paper in its thickness.

Maxillary membrane lines the entire nasal tract. It passes through the nasal openings into every one of the cavities. When one has a hard cold there is much inflammation and swelling of this delicate membrane in the nose. You have a "running" of the nose. When there is much moisture from this inflammation of the membrane of the nose, germs find a ready lodging place there. They may be carried into the interior cavities from the nose.

Now, if the antrum becomes infected with one of these runaway germs and inflammation is set up there, the fluids become dammed up in this cavity. The narrow passage way from the nose may be entirely closed by the swelling of the tissues. There is much pain and you may feel as though something was pressing hard on your back upper teeth, crowding them into the bone. It is very uncomfortable, and, what is more, it may be very serious unless it is checked. The antrum having become infected, the pus increases greatly, creating a poison which may be carried to every part of the body by the blood stream.

When you know you have antrum trouble and sometimes it is of long standing after an attack of influenza, or a severe cold, the inflammation may be controlled somewhat by cold application or ice packs. This will help to keep pus from forming. A doctor should be consulted and his directions carefully carried out.

You see what grave trouble may develop from neglected colds or from influenza. Great care should be taken, after a cold starts, to see that it is kept under control. One may have that dread malady, mastoid trouble, following a severe cold if infection gets up that passage-way which leads from the mouth to the ear, the Eustachian tube. Nobody wants to have that serious and painful ailment.

Build up your bodily resistance to disease so that you will not have repeated colds. And the next thing, take care of a cold when you have one, so that the infection and inflammation will not reach the antrum or the other nasal cavities. When once you have chronic sinus trouble or antrum trouble it is serious business.

Culbertson Ends Description Of Holy Land Tour; Tells Of Oddities Seen During Voyage

By A. B. CULBERTSON
From Jerusalem to Jerico, the river Jordan and Dead Sea is a half day's trip by motor car and yet Christ and His disciples oftentimes made the trip by foot.

I enjoyed a delightful plunge into the Dead Sea where the water is so salt that one cannot possibly sink but the river Jordan near where it enters the sea and the spot where Christ was supposed to have been baptized and the children of Israel crossed over on dry land is so deep and dirty with muddy, slippery banks that I did not attempt to enter it here but later farther up we crossed it above the Sea of Galilee where I took off my shoes and waded out but finding the water cold, did not take the chance of a cold bath.

The Sea of Galilee is a beautiful sheet of clear green water. It is 13 miles long and some three miles in width and surrounded by mountains which come down to the water's edge and these are the mountains to which Christ frequently resorted when he wished to be alone to pray. I spent one night at Tiberias which is directly on the lake, or set, and the moon as it gradually rose above the mountain top and cast its dim rays over the peaceful waters was beautiful to see and one could almost imagine our Saviour walking on the waters before him.

Tiberias is a small village, probably not even as large as our Lord's day and now as then, given over largely to fishing. I saw no sail or motor boats anywhere and the boats one sees and in which I rowed up and down the coast, was probably different than those used by the disciples Jafa and Peter when Christ called them to follow him.

Pass Getsemane

On the way from Jerusalem to Damascus we again passed around the foot of the Mount of Olives and the Garden of Getsemane, both of which are in plain view of the Holy City, through the wilderness of Judea and the little town of Bethany. Also on the way we passed the Inn of the Good Samaritan and the Apostle's spring where Christ and His Apostles frequently stopped to quench their thirst on the way from Jerico to Jerusalem. Not much remains of the one flourishing town of Jerico of Christ's time—only a few ruined aqueducts and remaining walls and foundations.

Close by is the "Fountain of Elisha" which tradition says (see Book of Kings) Elisha healed by making the waters sweet which he found brackish. The water is so abundant that it creates quite a stream which waters the land about Jerico, a real oasis in the desert.

On the road from Jerusalem we also passed Jacob's Well. This, you will remember, is where Jesus rested on His journey from Judea to Galilee and conversed with the woman of Samaria who had come to draw water.

Near by is the "little village of Sychar" and the "place of ground" that Jacob gave to his favorite son Joseph whose remains the Children of Israel brought up with them out of Egypt and buried here. The Tomb of Joseph still exists.

We also passed within sight of Capernaum on the north shore of the Sea of Galilee which is now only a pile of ruins but interesting excavations have recently been made and it is believed that the foundations of the synagogues have been discovered. Here is where Christ preached his famous discourse on the "Bread of Life."

Magdala, the home of Mary Magdalene is also passed but I fear I have tired you all by the repetition of the many places and scenes which to the tourist and especially the Bible student, rough Palestine excites so much interest and I will close with a brief description of the old city of Damascus it is said to be the oldest living city in the world today, dating back to the time of Abraham and one of the most interesting too.

It is the largest town in Syria (600,000 population) and little changed, it is claimed, since the time of Christ. It was near here you will remember, where the Lord struck down Saul of Tarsus on his way to Damascus to persecute the Disciples and led him to the house of Judas where his sight was afterward restored and where he was converted to the Faith.

It was in Damascus also that the Jews attempted to take his life which was prevented by some of the Disciples lowering him down in a basket after night outside the walls of the city. 85 years tradition and the exact spot, of course, is shown you.

Here is also the famous "Street called Straight" referred to in the Acts of the Apostles, near where until quite recently (this part of the city was destroyed by the French in 1927 to quell a mutiny) stood the traditional house of Judas. This street, while it could hardly be called "straight" is so much straighter than any of the other streets is why probably it was given the name.

It extends for about two miles, mostly covered as many of the streets in the old cities were and is the principal business street of the town. It is lined with little stores and shops of all kinds, some not more than a hole in the wall so that the purchaser has to stand in the street to do his bargaining.

In the busy street is a motley crowd of turbaned men and veiled women, dirty children, dogs, goats and camels, etc. and yet this is one of the busiest marts of the East and buyers come here from Europe and America, for fine rugs, damask and oriental stuff of all kinds.

This is where the famous Damascus steel came from, also the home of Damascus—worked into copper or other base metal. The Japanese have since learned the secret and most of better Damascus work now comes from Japan.

Travels To Haalbek

From Damascus it is only a couple of hours run over a good road to Haalbek. This was the principal shrine of Baal "the false god" as many times mentioned in the Scriptures and Haalbek was formerly the most glorious and voluptuous city of Syria and at that time world known and the remains of some of its temples and public buildings bear out its reputation.

The finest and most colossal temples were dedicated to Bacchus and the Sun God and the gigantic blocks of limestone used in some of them weigh each some thousand tons and aside from the monoliths found in Egypt, one of which stands in Central park, New York City, are said to be the largest masses of stone ever handled by man.

Not much remains of the ancient city and about all the inhabitants seem to be engaged in extracting baksheesh from the tourist.

Thus comes to an end my trip through Palestine and Syria for it is only a couple of hours run to Beirut but the last two hours are the most interesting, perhaps from a scenic standpoint, for we pass through the picturesque Yarmuk Valley and fertile region of Hauran with Mount Herman on one side and the Mt. of Lebanon on the right and finally ascending some 3,000 ft. we look down on the busy city of Beirut and the blue Mediterranean below. Only a few isolated graves of the famous cedars remain and these are jealously guarded and none are allowed to be taken away.

SAILORS KILLED IN GAS BLAST

Captain's Gig Destroyed
Alongside Saratoga;
Others Hurt

Long Beach, Cal., Jan. 3. — Two men are dead today and four others are injured, two seriously, as the result of an explosion which destroyed the captain's gig moored alongside of the aircraft carrier U. S. S. Saratoga.

Damage to the Saratoga was not thought to be great. The explosion occurred when a turpentine pot in a punt alongside the ship caught fire and ignited gasoline on the surface of the water.

The dead, Matthew La Vieille, 22, a seaman of Schenectady, N. Y. Vincent V. Lalor, engineer, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Henry Kenfield, 24, Hampton, Conn., was seriously burned.

Albert L. Houston, 20, Centralia, Wash., also suffered serious burns. Two seamen who suffered less serious burns are George W. Febray, 19, Annapolis, Md., and B. J. Norton.

Bomb Tossers Active; Wreck Eastern Home

Philadelphia, Jan. 3. — A dynamite bomb or grenade wrecked the front of the home of Robert Farley, clerk in the Register of Wills office, here early today. No one was injured although the entire neighborhood was shaken.

The explosive evidently had been tied to the door knob and had been equipped with a fuse. It exploded about 4 a. m. A gaping hole was torn in the door and the vestibule door was almost torn from its hinges. Farley, his wife and two daughters and a sister-in-law, who were asleep at the time were uninjured. Police have been unable to uncover any cause for the mysterious attack.

Acid Thrown After Threatening Letters

Dayton, O., Jan. 3. — Police today were investigating an "acid" attack which was made upon Mrs. Eva Lyon, 40, a widow.

Mrs. Lyon was badly burned about the face and arms when an unidentified woman, who had called at her home, threw a quantity of acid into her face.

The victim told police that the affair marked the climax of threatening notes, which she had received over a period of five years.

Killed By Cab

Columbus, O., Jan. 3. — Injuries which she sustained when she was struck by a taxi cab today caused the death of Mrs. Virginia B. Lorton, 67, in University hospital.

Police Get Large Still In Cleveland

A man who gave his name as Joe Puccio, 35, was arrested by the raiders.

PLANE CRASH

have unobstructed vision of the stunt they were to photograph. This it is believed, will aid in liberating the bodies.

Three Ships in Air

The two planes, together with a third ship, had just jockeyed into position, facing into the setting sun. According to plans they were to separate at 4,000 feet to allow the third plane, piloted by Col. Roscoe Turner, to come in between, House and Cook were piloting.

Turner's plane carried Jacob Triebwasser, Fred White and Fred Osborne. Triebwasser's parachute leap was to be photographed by cameramen in the two ships, but the leap was never made.

They were preparing to shoot the last scenes of a film sequence for the Fox film corporation entitled "such men are dangerous."

The story was based on the mysterious death of Alfred Loewenstein, Belgian multi-millionaire, who disappeared from a transport plane above the English Channel, July 5, 1928. Warner Baxter is starred in the film.

Witnesses declare that one or both of the pilots had perhaps been blinded by the glare of the setting sun. Anyway the two planes wavered. One banked slightly to the right and the other veered upward and banked to the left; then they met in a sickening crash and, locked together, plunged into the sea.

Turner's plane at that time was 1,000 feet above from the other two and at a lower altitude.

The bodies of Max Gold, assistant director, Conrad Wells, cameraman, and Ben Frankel, assistant cameramen, were identified after they floated to the surface.

Howard Hawks, brother of the dead man, and husband of Athole Shearer, sister of Norma Shearer, owes his life to a whim that caused him to decline an invitation to ride in one of the camera planes.

A second brother, William, married Bessie Love, film star, recently.

STYLE EDICTS

Paris, Jan. 3.—Prints promise to be permanently popular as the basis for next summer's silks and other fabrics.

Printed silks are being shown in the mid-season collections in a variety of grounds and many among them are designed for sports. Shantung and seashore are sponsored by many of the dress-makers and other individual weaves are seen, such as burnous crepe, lama crepe and silk garbardin. Various weaves are frequently printed with design of geometrical inspiration, suggesting those of seashells, and they are used for the tailored dress, light suits and sports creations, as well, although for these latter there are more typically sports designs inspired by open air life.

Printed flamenga reappears with great importance for spring wear and there are some charming cravat silks printed with designs a little larger than for last season.

One house is showing two crepe dresses printed in a charming design of lilies of the valley which are certain to prove popular.

crease employment still further. These plans, however, have not yet matured and I regret to state that work which would be helpful to our community is being purchased in other cities.

"During 1929 the Bliss plant entered into the manufacture of a new line of machinery to diversify its products, namely, industrial refrigerating plants. We have been devoting considerable time and attention to this department with the result that a steady improvement is taking place. Within a few years, I believe the volume of business in this department will constitute an important industry for Salem."

"The rolling mill machinery business shows marked improvement. Backed up mills of both the cluster type and the four-high type have been in increasing demand. New improvements are being added constantly which are keeping Bliss machinery in prominent favor with the industry."

Deming Adds Equipment

From the Deming company comes the announcement that considerable equipment is being added for use in the manufacture of centrifugal pumps. Business, the announcement states, was satisfactory in 1929.

"During the past five to 10 years the demand in the pump line has changed a great deal. We are now building a great many electrically driven pumps and our distribution has been changed, although we are selling almost entirely through the jobbing distributors," an official of the company stated.

"Business for the year 1929 has been fairly satisfactory but competition has been quite keen. Prospects for 1930 look good. While we cannot make predictions for the whole year, we are of the impression that we will run at least as full as during the past 12 months."

Build New Pumps

"We are at the present time developing an entirely new line of centrifugal pumps to be added to our present line of power pumps. Tests we have made on this line show high efficiency and it is our prediction that when we get into the proper production our volume of business will be increased greatly. The personnel in charge of this department is recognized as an authority in centrifugal pump manufacturing, the official stated.

The Salem China company's past year's production record established new records in business for the company. The prospects for another, an equally successful period, are reported bright.

"The year that just closed shows larger production than any previous 12 months' period. While the industry as a whole is suffering seriously from foreign competition and inadequate tariff protection, it is the aim of our company to materially strengthen its line by the introduction of new products. A line of underglaze print decorations is expected to find favor with the buying public."

"Notwithstanding the disposition of the trade towards the hand-to-mouth buying, 'the China company's management closes, 'it is the aim of the management to leave no stone unturned to provide the same maximum employment this year, as was given during 1929.'"

Sentenced To Jail

HOME-MAKING HELPS

—By Wanda Barton—

The curtains at the guest-room window were fresh and charming, but at first glance it was difficult to guess the fabric.

"Unbleached sheeting," explained my hostess. There were deep hemstitch top and bottom, and a gay pattern stencilled in peacock blue and lemon yellow. It made bright and cheerful, a small room that ordinarily did not enjoy much sunlight.

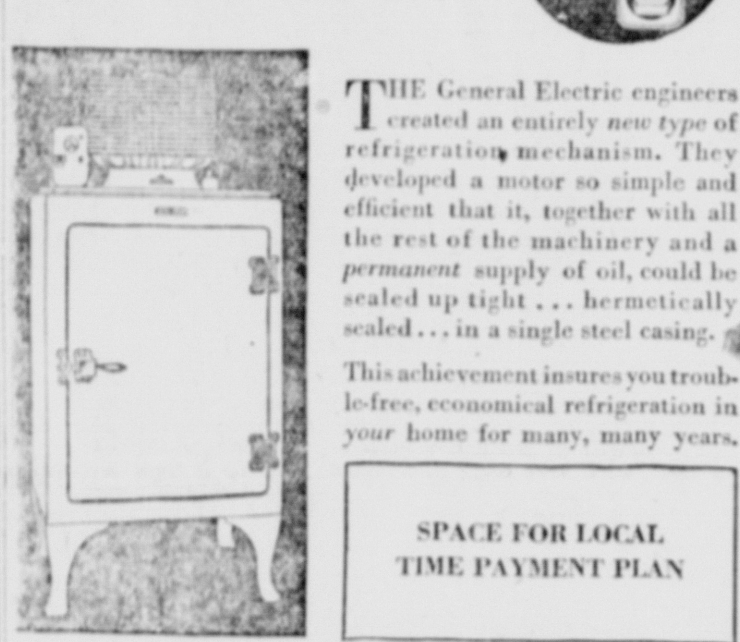

Around the dressing table there was a deep valance of the same material with the design repeated, and the small couch-bed was covered the same way. The material is heavy enough to hang well, but light enough in texture to make frequent laundering possible and even easy.

There is now a vogue for greater simplicity in hangings, and for the guest-room, children's room, informal dining-room, sun-room or porch, the use of sheeting has much to recommend it. It combines well with almost any trimming—or none, if the room is full enough of other patterns. Very easy to make even by the least than expert needlewoman, the unbleached sheeting, with its oyster or cream color, is perhaps most adaptable to any color scheme, so it is absolutely neutral.

Greens, blues, yellows, browns, reds—any tint or shade can be used in stenciled pattern, or in the shape of trimming on hem and borderline. There is a ready-made narrow ruffling that can now be bought by the yard, sometimes in two or three colors, and which sewed on the edge, gives an almost professional look to the home-made muslin drapery.

It is also useful for many other decorative items—table runners, cushion covers, aprons. A touch of color in the trimming and it becomes quite elegant.

American Artist Honored in Paris

Paris, Jan. 3.—Another American artist to be honored by the French government is Holmead Phillips, who has recently been exposing his works at the Galerie Bernheim-Jeune. His painting, one of his landscapes, and presented it to the Luxembourg Museum.

Mr. Phillips, who originally hailed from Philadelphia, Pa., is not only a young painter who knows his business from A to Z, but a man endowed with an extraordinary vision for persons as well as objects. He has taken from the formulae of the young French painters everything which could be best adapted to his temperament and thus fortified and nourished his talent. His work, inspired by Utrillo and certain Cubists, have a most original accent.

Mr. Phillips says that he is certain that the present century will give birth to a new principle or starting point in art, quite independent from the other two. Dada and Cubism, but equally important!

Audience Puzzled By Einstein Talk

Berlin, Jan. 3.—Professor Albert Einstein held a lecture before the Kaiser Wilhelm Society for the Promotion of Science in Berlin explaining his theory of relativity. After the lecture, it was said, nounced a debate would be held on the subject.

When the time came for questions, however, there were no questions. Even the scientific leaders of the Society were not sure that they had quite understood.

Einstein explained this theory very simply. The theory of relativity, he said, combined space and time into a four-dimensional space, because all happenings are conditioned by space and time.

TROPICAL HEAT TO WARM NORTH

Pittsburgh Chemist Has Plan To Furnish Polar Heat

Pittsburgh, Jan. 3.—How heat from the tropic might some day be utilized to furnish warmth in the polar regions has been shown in theory by Dr. Alexander S. D. head of the chemistry department at the University of Pittsburgh.

The possibility, "no more propitious to think of than it was to think of air transportation several decades ago," the doctor said, is seen in an experiment which he performed with a red of fused quartz.

The red, six feet long and a half an inch in diameter, carried enough heat from a 200 watt tungsten lamp with a conical reflector to light a cigaret at the end away from the lamp and the red itself was cool to the touch.

Because of the value of fused quartz a method of obtaining it in great quantities and at low cost must precede any large scale experimentation, the doctor pointed out.

There is the possibility of so producing it from sea-bore sand, which consists of tiny quartz pebbles. When that can be done and when electric current becomes inexpensive enough to furnish the heat for fusing it, the fused quartz can be used for many things, according to the doctor.

Fused quartz is the most transparent solid known as far as light, heat, ultra violet waves and such forms of radiation are concerned.

Americans to Build Plants For Russia

Moscow, Jan. 3.—In preparation for anticipated resumption of grain exports, according to the five-year plan, in one or two years, the Soviet government has signed a contract with the MacDonald Engineering company of Chicago for technical assistance in the construction of huge concrete grain elevators and cold storage plants.

The total value of the construction is estimated at about $75,000,000 over a period of several years, the investments being made by the Soviet government. The MacDonald company has contracted to draft the plans and supervise the construction on a cost plus basis with a staff of 40 engineers and construction men. It does not undertake to obtain loans or credits. The financing of the enterprise and the furnishing of labor and materials is in the hands of the government.

Populace Attacks Police In Raids

Record Fish Year

Berlin, Jan. 3.—The year 1929 has been a record year for herring fishers. It is estimated that the herring catch of the German fishers alone will total 100,000,000 pounds. Germany uses approximately 650,000,000 pounds of herring a year, or 10 pounds per head of the population. It consumes more than one-third of the entire European catch.

Superiority Of College Girls Over Chorus Sextet Doubted

Are college girls smarter than chorus girls just because six pretty students from Hunter college decisively defeated six chorus girls in an ask-me-another contest?

The 50 questions covered current events, politics, history, the arts, philosophy, psychology and literature. To the glory of the college girl, the Hunter questionnaire winners registered 84 per cent average to 54 per cent for the chorus girls.

Kay Gallagher, pretty 18-year-old Hunterite, was the outstanding star with a mark of 92 per cent. Ann Scarborough was the highest of the chorus delegation with 80 per cent.

I doubt whether even Col. Charles Lindbergh, Gene Tunney, Thomas Edison or Charles Evan Hughes could have knocked off a girl's eye on the questionnaire submitted.

Try some of them on your door: "Who was the patron of Quintus Horatius Flaccus?"

"What philosopher began life as an optician?"

"Who was the first president of the Soviet republic?"

"During what tyrant's rule were the most beautiful buildings on the Acropolis constructed?"

"Who designed St. Paul's Cathedral in London?"

With all due respect to the triumph recorded by the collegiate girls, I am suspicious as to whether it reflects a victory of the girl university over the Broadway girl.

Inasmuch as the six chorus girls were supposedly college graduates, it would tend to show what any educator readily admits—that book knowledge is remembered in direct proportion to the time in or out of school.

And as far as the knowledge of a chorus girl is concerned it is questionable whether her awareness that so-and-so was the first president of the Soviet republic would assist greatly in her progress toward stardom.

The battle of questions might have been a fairer to the half-dozen chorines if such queries as the following were included:

"How does a girl eat when she cannot find two thin slices to drink?"

"How can a girl keep her boyish figure?"

"What is the best way to stop a run in a silk stocking?"

Filled with this questioning spirit, I asked the old standby of both sides—"Do you believe in long or short skirts?"

"Short skirts for afternoon, long skirts for evening," was the unanimous reply from the Hunter girls.

"Short skirts for three meals a day," said the chorus girls. "Long skirts if the manager wants them."

Of course, the girls had a lot of fun out of the battle of questions but the real victory rested in the camaraderie of four press agents who collaborated in the stunt. They represented a theatrical producer who provided the chorines, the hotel which supplied the locale for the battle, a publisher who acted as judge and a publishing house who made up the questions.

HOOVER MEETS NAVAL EXPERTS

Entertains Delegates At Early White House
Breakfast

Washington, Jan. 3.—On the eve of their departure for London, President Hoover this morning entertained the American delegation to the forthcoming naval armament conference at the White House breakfast.

In addition to the delegates, all of the aides and advisors were present. The invitation read "seven o'clock," an unusually early hour, but the president had been up and out in the south grounds tossing a medicine ball before his guests arrived.

The delegation will leave for New York at 9 a. m., Jan. 9, and expects to sail on the George Washington the same afternoon, the state department announced.

The departure from Washington will be by special train. Final arrangements for transportation were completed and each member of the delegation, some 60 in all, received railroad and steamship tickets.

Because congress provided a fund of $23,500 for expenses of the delegation, its disbursement will be on the warrant of Secretary of State Sumner, and consequently Comptroller General McCall will not have authority to question the vouchers. The per diem allowance for subsistence will probably be somewhat larger than the government usually allows for travel in the United States, and hotel bills will be paid for en bloc.

The British officers are convinced by a group of actors that includes many actual ex-officers. John Leder, Phillip Strange, John Roche, Gerald Barry, Richard Tucker, Lionel Belmont and Richard Travers are in the group.

John Miljan is an uncanny figure as "Mallory," the shell shocked hypnotic victim, and Claude Fleming and Clarence Geldert are convincing as the two detectives from Scotland Yard.

Cooper and Polly Moran inject comedy as the maid and the valet, and Sydney Jarvis plays the comedy butler.

Former Ohio Official Succumbs to Illness
Columbus, O., Jan. 3.—Jeremiah S. McKinley, 73, former state representative and nationally known in post office circles, is dead here today from heart disease to which he succumbed last night after an illness of a year.

He served two terms as state representative in the general assemblies of 1923 and 1927.

The ex-solon served six years as president of the Ohio Postmaster's league and at one time occupied a similar office in the League of Postmasters of the United States.

Most of his early life was spent on a Franklin county farm where he developed the McKinley and Jumbo grapes.

The shooting, according to police, Grove was said to have administered to his wife.

MOVIES

"UNHOLY NIGHT"
At The State

Ten men, in an English manor house, pursued by the weirdest, most uncanny enemy ever faced, form the basis of the screen's most gripping mystery story of the year, "The Unholy Night." Lionel Barrymore's latest directorial effort for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, an all-talking production, now playing at the State theater.

It is a fantastic drama of bewilderment laid in a London fog and a haunted manor. Suspicious dogs first one then another of its characters. A spiritualistic seance materializing specters, sinister shadows and unseen criminals figure in the mystery.

Ernest Torrence, in the role of the mysterious "Dr. Hallou," plays a strange role, different from anything in his past career. Dorothy Scott, as "Eira," the mystery woman, has another vastly different part. Roland Young is seen as "Lord Monty," the flippant peer in the picture, injecting whimsical comedy into grim situations, and Natalie Moorhead is the stately "Lady Vi."

The British officers are convinced by a group of actors that includes many actual ex-officers. John Leder, Phillip Strange, John Roche, Gerald Barry, Richard Tucker, Lionel Belmont and Richard Travers are in the group.

John Miljan is an uncanny figure as "Mallory," the shell shocked hypnotic victim, and Claude Fleming and Clarence Geldert are convincing as the two detectives from Scotland Yard.

Cooper and Polly Moran inject comedy as the maid and the valet, and Sydney Jarvis plays the comedy butler.

"WELCOME DANGER"
At The Grand

Harold Lloyd takes melodrama and turns it into the funniest of comedies, by tricks of his own. In his latest picture, "Welcome Danger" at the Grand theater, you see his first picture in a year and a half.

Lloyd portrays the son of a famous Golden Gate police officer, who passes on, assuming he has left the world a legacy in the form of a great law-enforcing son. However, Harold prefers toying with flowers rather than swinging blackjacks and when his father's old friends call upon him to come to their aid he goes, unwittingly, to compete with the smartest brains in Chinatown.

The story is based entirely on fiction, but its background and the actions that take place there make it a laugh and a gasp from start to finish.

Charles Morgan Gets Severe Prison Term
Cleveland, Jan. 3.—Charles Morgan, bank robber and reputed ex-gangster of Chicago's underworld, was to be re-sentenced here today for his part in the stickup of the United Banking and Trust company, nearly a year ago.

Common Pleas Judge W. R. White, sitting here from Gallipolis, O., sentenced Morgan to 24 years in the Ohio penitentiary at the conclusion of the gunman's trial last November.

Just recently, however, Judge White realized that until the sentence Morgan had been eligible to parole in ten years. Immediately he recalled Morgan for a re-sentencing. The new sentence will set a minimum of probably 24 years.

License Purchasers Retain All Records
Lisbon, Jan. 3.—During the past few days of the old year, a number of applicants, after obtaining license plates walked out of some offices with triplicate copies of their application, thereby leaving no record of the purchase of the license with the local registrar.

The triplicate application for a passenger car license at Salem did the same thing.

Owners of these two license plates have been asked to return the application blanks to the tax office at Lisbon in order that office and state records can be completed.

FOG BLANKETS EASTERN CITY

Two Reported Lost As Ferry Rams Tug In
New York Harbor

New York, Jan. 3.—In a dense fog which overhung New York harbor today, a ferry boat and a tug crashed and, within a very short time, the tug sank. Two persons were reported missing. Three ambulances were rushed to the nearest point to the scene of the collision which was in the Erie basin, off the shore of Brooklyn.

Traffic in the harbor, and on Manhattan Island as well, was hampered by the fog. Harbor craft moved slowly and street car and "L" schedules were delayed.

Four persons—two Interborough Rapid Transit employees and two passengers—were injured when a southbound six car local train crashed into the rear of a halted six car local at a station in the Pelham Bay division.

The fog blanketed the upper bay, Staten Island and a large section of New Jersey. All ferry lines were crippled and thousands of employees were late reaching their places of employment. Practically all ferry boats operating between the Jersey and New York shores were far behind schedule.

Many ferry boats did not move at all, remaining at their piers so as to lessen congestion in the harbor. On the Hudson river ferry traffic also operated at reduced speeds.

Trains entering the city proceeded at reduced speeds. A drizzle accentuated the delay in traffic.

Salem High Meets Alliance Basketeers In Duel Here Tonight

Varsity, Reserves Meet Stark County Foe; Two Games Here Saturday

Stonemen Clash With Stiff Adversary At Salem Hi Gym Both Tonight and Saturday; Strong Steubenville Teams Play Tomorrow Night

Alliance High's undefeated cage quintet, composed of four consecutive victories, meets Floyd Stone's somewhat rejuvenated Salem High aggregation at the Salem gym at 8:45 tonight.

Alliance has a strong combine which includes four lettermen, all of whom were stars on the team which last season handed the Stonemen a 26-23 setback. Its string four straight victories this season was collected at the expense of Louisville, Minerva, Akron Garfield and the Akron Goodyear Industrial school outfit.

The real highspot of Coach George Wilcox's present season campaign is the 22-11 verdict annexed by his lads from the tattered Akron Garfield aggregation. Garfield, with a team made up of all lettermen, was presumed to again have produced one of the district's strongest teams, but it was completely outclassed by the Red and Blue.

Starting Lineup
Wilcox's lettermen are Windland, Dann, Desmon and Hammon. Windland is a power at the center position, while Dann and Hammon are guards. Desmon and Abaffy are the forwards.

The Alliance team has developed various forms of defense which can be adapted to the style of offense used by the opposition. This defense kept the Akron Garfield scoring play which last year led the Rubber Citians to a victory over Salem in the district tourney practically helpless. It is a mixed form of man to man and zone defense and Wilcox, in banking strong on it to hold Salem's toppers from repeating the scoring spree of the Massillon game.

Because of the great contrast in the records of the two teams and despite Salem High's 36-26 victory over Massillon, Alliance is billed as the favorite to trim the Stonemen.

Salem Shows Power
Salem showed plenty of scoring power against Massillon and should repeat this form of play, there is a great chance that the Alliance lads will be handed their first setback of the season. The Massillon game brought out plenty of surprises, in fact it showed clearly that Salem High has developed greatly, and tonight will either show that it was merely an "on" night for the team or the fact that the Stonemen will play a better type of ball the rest of the season.

The starting lineup is never a certainty for the Red and Blue but from the showing of the five lads who ran wild against the Massillon team, it's a good bet that Whinnery will start at center with Smith and Sartick guards and Greenstein and Beck, the forwards.

Steubenville returns here for a return game with Salem High boys and girls Saturday night. The boys reserve squad plays Greenford High varsity at Greenford tomorrow and meets the Alliance reserves in tonight's preliminary at 7:30.

THE DAY In Sports

"WHAT WILL 1936 BRING?" FOOTBALL ENDS REIGN FUMBLE RULE TO STAY PUT GOAL POSTS BACK

The passing of another 365-day period and the entry of 1936 as its successor naturally turns the sportsman's sportsman mind to the thought of "What will the New Year bring in sports?" The past year was one of the greatest in athletic history. It saw a great football season, basketball activities at their best and unprecedented battles for titular honors in all other branches of sport.

Football ended its reign as the leading sport of the year more than a month ago and was succeeded by basketball and the result of the Pitt-U. S. C. game Wednesday has forced other subjects into the background. Not even the most radical annihilation of the presumably great football team and easterners are now working day and night in efforts to secure alibis suitable to the occasion.

The game was as spectacular as any one-sided grid classic ever could be and brought to a fitting close the past year's football activities. Its sensationalism was in direct line with all other sports that have reigned supreme in America since athletics began dominating headlines.

With the close of actual combat on the gridiron, comes the announcement from officials of the National Rules committee that the fumble rule, which changed the game so much last season, is here to stay for at least another year. This edict is issued as a result of activities of the 1935 season, all new rules effecting a great help to the game.

The one change which might better the game still more would be the return of goal posts to their original place on the goal-line. Many leading grid experts advocates this idea but the committee still refuses to consider the change.

A few of the big questions being asked by Salem fans are as follows:
Will Salem High start into a winning streak in basketball; what prospects are there for the 1936 track team; will Bill Tilden come back in international tennis competition; will Jack Dempsey come back; what will Babe Ruth's salary be next season; how soon will Art Shires be in position to issue a defy to Jack Sharkey; will Joe Reese and Eddie Tressler run another 50-50 dash down East State street?

Then there are the never-ending conjectures concerning Lowell Emerson "Little Rib" Allen's college potentialities in the pole vault. Allen is now attending Mount Union and is a member of the first five in frosh basketball. He went good in the pole vault last year at Michigan and should be scaling the pole around 13 feet next track season. He won't, however, be available for track at Mount until 1931.

Golden Eagle Annexes Third Straight Win In City Loop; Tie With Furnace For Lead

The Golden Eagle continued its steady march towards a leading place among city league titular contestants, winning its third straight game of the season by a 47-15 score, Thursday night.

The victim this time was the Grate Motors. The Golden Eagle combine is now tied for first place in the league with the strong Electric Furnace team, each having won three games and lost none.

Just as the score indicates, Solbert Greenberger's team had the Motors outclassed throughout the game and was never in danger of being headed. The score at the end of the first half was 20-6 and at the third quarter this lead had been stretched to 35-9.

Printz Klub Wins
The Printz Klub handed the Eagles lodge quintet a 19-17 defeat in a rough battle played at the acromorial gym last night. It was a loosely officiated affair, both teams being allowed the privilege of assault and battery with little fear of legal proceedings via the referee's whistle.

The Eagles led the first three quarters then were held scoreless the last period when the colored lads forged ahead.

Italian Strong Man Makes Semi-Debut In Gotham

New York, Jan. 3.—A tremendous lumbox of a man, with the guileless eye of a milk cow and the body of an inter-city moving van, approached with great, ungainly strides, for all the world like an old time "sandwich man" on stilts, and was introduced from the ring at Stillman's gymnasium yesterday. They said he was Primo Carnera, the Italian giant, this precaution being taken to prevent unnecessary confusion. It was no use letting somebody go away with the impression that he had just seen Johnny Coulon.

There was a pattering of applause in the wake of the announcement and the lumbox bowed stiffly from the waist, grinning like a banshee. He has too many gums for real beauty and they show redly, horribly. They made one think of the slaving mouth of an animal.

Not a nice man to look upon, this Carnera. That same of his was supposed to be reassuring. Instead, it gave one the impression that savagery lurked beneath the stolid, homine surface. Those who know far more of him than the writer could guess in his brief acquaintance say that Carnera has plenty of what they call "geemer" in him, meaning that he is not above cowardice.

If this is true, the savage beneath might be all the more dangerous to anyone he had at a disadvantage. There is no one so cruel as the man of doubtful courage who finds himself able to give punishment without fear of reprisal. However, I fear not. Everyone, for a stance, knows that a man who stands 6 feet 10 inches, weighs 2 pounds and has the leverage of 2 inch feet behind his punch can hit anything he hits.

I don't like Carnera's right, except when he shoots it to the body. B chops with it too much when I punches to the head.

The giant gave a good show yesterday and was in high, good humor, smirking at the crowd and at a few quips, the points which was lost on everybody, owing to inadequate English. But did it show prove anything?

I fear not. Everyone, for a stance, knows that a man who stands 6 feet 10 inches, weighs 2 pounds and has the leverage of 2 inch feet behind his punch can hit anything he hits.

CLEVELAND AUTO SALON JAN. 25

Some Cars May Appear In First Public Row At Event

Cleveland, Jan. 3.—Attention of the automobile world naturally for the time being is focused on the annual national automobile show in New York January 4 to 11 as that show each year presents to the public the last word in motor car production for the year.

Stories came out of the eastern metropolis telling of the innovations in motor car manufacture. Word pictures are sent out, giving details of what the automotive engineers have introduced into the motor car.

Complete satisfaction of those interested is not obtained, however, until a close-up view of these new automobiles can be had. Arrangements are being made here to assemble in one building the new 1930 motor cars so that all Ohioans may view them.

Forty Makes Entered
This will be at the annual Cleveland Automobile Show to be held in this city's public auditorium, January 25 to February 1, inclusive. Forty makes of passenger cars in addition to trucks, trailers, buses, accessories, fuels, lubricants, tools and machinery will be found in the Cleveland exposition.

It has been reported that some manufacturers had not been able to give their final O. K. on their 1930 product in time for the New York show and it is likely that some new cars will make their first bow to the public at the Cleveland exposition. The show will occupy the main auditorium and its west annex, making it the biggest automotive exposition Cleveland has had in years and will surpass any similar attraction in the middle west this season.

Ohio Farmer Says, "No Praise Too Great For New Medicine."

MR. DELL ALLEN

"Konjola has done wonders for me," said Mr. Dell Allen, a farmer of Pierpont, Ohio. I suffered with liver trouble for years and tried many medicines without getting relief. Frequent bilious attacks brought on headaches and dizzy spells. I was never free from constipation and was obliged to resort to cathartics daily. Sound sleep was impossible and my nerves were in bad condition.

"A short time after taking Konjola I began to feel an improvement in my condition. I continued the same treatment and it was only a short time until my liver became normal and the headaches and dizzy spells disappeared. My kidneys became strong again and I slept soundly at night. No one can give too much credit to this great medicine which brought health to me after all other medicines had failed."

Plan to Broadcast Pictures Failure

Berlin, Jan. 3.—The general broadcasting of radio pictures initiated by the German government, broadcast stations has been abandoned because it didn't pay. Only 16 persons in all Germany had subscribed to the picture service. The system itself, however, worked perfectly, and the broadcasting of pictures will be retained to send weather maps to airplanes and to broadcast pictures of fugitive criminals to all police authorities.

1929 Set Maudlin Gangland Record For All-Time In Chicago

RACKETEERS IN MANY KILLINGS DURING PERIOD

Slayings Appear Almost Weekly In Illinois Metropolis

DEATH OF 7 MEN OUTSTANDING EVENT

Few Cases Solved Due To Gangland Code; War Waged by Police

Chicago, Jan. 3.—Daylight. A quiet residential neighborhood. Delivery wagons creaking lazily down the street. Hearse sheets, commands, snarl-ings. Seven men blinking in the sunshine lined against a wall. The sudden rear and white as hundreds of leaden slugs crash into their bodies. Seven men's forms of what had once been men. Aerid fumes of powder. The clourning of a powerful automobile motor and silence.

On that bright St. Valentine's Day morning, history was made, a chronicle of ganglands horrible, brutal methods of eliminating enemies. That massacre, still unsolved, was the climax in a year in which more than fifty gangsters were killed in the bitter war for command of the alcohol and beer control.

The year 1929 had been but two hours old when the decade started. Two gunmen, Hugh "Bubba" McGovern and William "Gunner" McPadden, were shot down, and killed in a night club filled with a laughing gay New Year's Eve throng. Both were known as minor racketeers to police.

Assassins At Work One week later, assassins crept to the home of Pasquale Liscardo, successor of the late Tony Lombardo, as head of the Unione Siciliana, and through an open window sprayed him with machine gun bullets. He was the third victim.

A few weeks later "Bull" Cain was killed by gunmen in his apartment for "muzzling in" on a west side gang's territory. And so they fell, almost daily, alcohol peddlers, labor racketeers, bomb terrorists, hijackers, alky cooks, beer needlers, rum runners, liquor smugglers, slingers and every manner of criminal that was a product of post-war prohibition. Then came the day of the "Bugs" Moran massacre, the greatest of all gang murders, arousing the entire world to the situation. All that really is known of those slayings is briefly this:

Approximately eight men drove to the warehouse where Moran's men were meeting, two of the murder party being dressed as policemen. Moran's men, thinking it was merely a police raid, consented to be lined against a brick wall in an alley and be searched for weapons, with their backs turned, they were killed by machine guns. The slayers escaped. Moran's men were members of a bootleg ring. Nothing else is known.

Offer New Theory Police advanced a new theory each day thereafter, many of them plausible, but still theories. Many were arrested. Three were even indicted for the murders, but gangdom in its own fashion accounted for two of them—their bodies, riddled with bullets, being found in a prairie lake. The third, "Machine Gun" Jack McGurn, alleged henchman of "Scarface Al" Capone, never went to trial, the state in December finally nolle prosequing the case. May 8, 1929, Albert Anselmi, John Scalisi and Joseph Perardi were "taken for a ride." Their bodies were found near the Illinois-Indiana state line. Police believe Anselmi and Scalisi were killed as revenge for the Moran massacre. There were others indicted. Those murders, too, were never solved.

Gangsters were being killed at the rate of one a week and still police could do nothing. In every case detectives met the stone wall of gangland silence. Where witnesses could aid them, they refused. Dying men met death with sealed lips. The underworld hates a "squawker."

There is another reason why gang murders are seldom solved. Those "taken for a ride" in the greater number of instances, do not know that the men they are riding with contemplate slaying them but believe they are friends until a cold revolver muzzle is thrust into the back of their head and a second later they are dead.

No Calls For Aid There are no outcries, screams or yells. There are no calls for aid. The "ride" and its ending are completed in a few moments and by the time a farmer or laborer stumbles across the inert form, the slayers are miles away.

The map of gangland changed during 1929 in Chicago. The year saw Capone tucked safely away in a Pennsylvania prison for carrying concealed weapons. The year saw his dog track disappear.

A new state's attorney was in office and a man with whom the underworld cannot deal. Six machines were wrecked by Prosecutor John Swanson's raiders. Gambling houses disappeared.

Punch boards that steal pennies from school children were removed from the corner candy store.

Dice games were not tolerated. Houses of prostitution, alleged to have been flourishing in the village of Stickney, suburb, and in the hands of so-called vice kings, were forced to cease operating.

Perhaps the greatest "miracle" accomplished by Swanson was cleaning up the "loop" or downtown section of beer—beer in every form.

"Speakeasies" closed over night. There was no more draught beer.

proprietors sadly told their thirsty customers—only bottled beer, and that was stopped within a few weeks by raiders armed with hatchets.

Beer Running Stopped City police had little or no hand in this gigantic undertaking. Swanson's men under Chief Investigator Patrick Roche did it all. During the last two months of 1929, November and December, beer could not be purchased in the loop.

Alcohol, wines and whiskies, however, were plentiful, according to reports. Drug stores began to sell gin for $1.50 per pint, instead of the $2 price which had prevailed for the past four years.

And still the gang wars continued.

Commissioner of Detectives John Stege summed the situation up in these words:

"Everytime you take a drink you are a potential murderer. You kill these gangsters. If you didn't drink, there would be no demand for liquor and with cut a demand there would be no gangs, no wars, no shootings. Gang wars will continue as long as the public drinks."

MARSHALL FIELD LISTS EXPANSION

Merchandising of Concern Greater With New Enterprises

Marshall Field and company, through John McKinlay, first vice president, makes the following statement:

"During 1929, we expanded our business in many ways. We opened two fine branches of our retail store, one in Oak Park, Ill., and one in Evanston, Ill.

"We purchased the Frederick & Nelson store in Seattle, as well as a number of retail stores in Wisconsin, Illinois and Ohio which are being operated under our wholesale management.

"The merchandise mart, in which our wholesale business and that of many of our competitors will be housed, is well along toward completion. The fact that this is the largest building in the world is not of much consequence.

"The important thing is that it brings under one roof in Chicago a large proportion of the manufacturers and distributors of our own and similar lines.

"Notwithstanding the fact that there has been little time to benefit by some of the year's expansion, we are well satisfied with our results, both in the considerably increased volume of our business and the very satisfactory net showing.

PARIS TAXIMEN INSTALL RADIOS IN AUTOMOBILES

Paris, Jan. 1.—Come and take a ride with me in my radio-automobile," hums the new school of Parisian taxicab chauffeurs.

A portable set in the seat next to the driver and a loud speaker opening into the customer's compartment provides music while the meter is ticking off fares.

It's a strictly business proposition. If you must hear a symphony it is necessary to ride for a mile or two. A dance number or a popular song only covers a few blocks.

Spoony couples who prefer a taxi to the parlor sofa now take a whirl around the Bois de Boulogne to romantic rhythms.

The chauffeurs say that the perambulating concert dulls the edge of a fare's reaction when he reads the staggering total of francs per kilometre.

So down the boulevards they glide as the jazzy trombones slide.

Complete fire-fighting equipment is carried on a trailer of an English invention that can be towed to a blaze by a motor cycle.

Strip Poker Good Divorce Grounds

Detroit, Jan. 1.—Attendance at strip poker parties is grounds for divorce, Circuit Judge DeWitt H. Merriam declared here recently in granting a divorce to Donald Rutledge from his wife Nora W. Rutledge's principal witness, Frank Meer, a neighbor, testified that Mrs. Rutledge told him she had attended wild parties with strange men and played strip poker with them.

Let it come! Punishing cold especially to meet Ohio's weather.

New SOHIO MOTOR OILS

Free From Harmful Wax

CROSS off November. Cross off December.
But look at the chart for January. And remember—it's the sudden extremes of weather that really put motor oil to the test.

Right there's where New Sohio scores a triumph. It's at ease in any temperature.
Bitter cold doesn't make it sluggish. Rising temperature doesn't thin it dangerously. Melting heat doesn't break it down.

The reason? The harmful wax has been removed from New Sohio Motor Oil by a remarkable new process which whirls it away at 50° below zero. That makes it an oilier oil—sturdier—ready to resist Ohio's severest weather changes. Yet with all its extra quality
New Sohio Motor Oil costs but 30c per quart.

Listen to the Sohios every Tuesday Evening at 7:30 P. M. . . . WTAM

"IGA brings Prosperity"
 says ex-Governor
 Parker of Louisiana

"This meeting means a new acclaration of independence—a new era of freedom—a new epoch of prosperity!" said Ex-Governor Parker in an address before the great Dixie Convention of I.G.A. members. The I.G.A. wins hearty approval from leading Americans for its American ideals of home owned, home supporting stores—ideals that promote the great prosperity of America.
